Show, by your actions, that you choose peace over war, freedom over oppression, voice over silence, service over self-interest, respect over advantage, courage over fear, cooperation over competition, action over passivity, diversity over uniformity, and justice over all.

Adapted from Bessie Anderson Stanley (1905): To laugh often and love much, To win the respect of intelligent people and the affection of children, To earn the appreciation of honest critics and endure the betrayal of false friends, To appreciate beauty, To find the best in others, To leave the world a bit better, whether by a healthy child, a garden path, or a redeemed social condition, To know even one life has breathed easier because you have lived. This is to have succeeded. [Monument inscription, Lincoln, Kansas. I found the quotation, as written, posted in a Quaker Meeting House. There are many versions -- the words differ, but the sentiment and wisdom are the same]

Dear Antony,

thank you for sharing you thoughts, hoping that we may continue "to live, seeking and pursuing and not only surviving".

You inspire us “to go for it!”.

My warmest wishes for 2016 to you and Louise that let your thought circulate, as it deserves

Dear Louise,

After some time in a hospital (knee operation) I am back. I hope I am also back to work. Whenever I have a "scientific" line, I will send it to you.

Attached please find my this year's season's greeting. In the last year I saw currencies and religions not so much as integrative or stabilizing forces (what they could be) but as potential “conflict fields”. So I hope you all manage to balance safely to a peaceful alternative draft, which unfortunately is not only symbolically structured but also a romantic fantasm.

Warm regards

Lutz
