

Rosemarie Anderson is Professor Emerita of Psychology at Sofia University USA, author, and an Episcopal priest. Her initial training was in experimental psychology and behavior genetics. She currently serves on the Editorial Boards of Qualitative Psychology, The Humanistic Psychologist, Journal of Transpersonal Research, and the Journal of Transpersonal Psychology. In 1998, she authored Celtic Oracles and co-authored, with the late William Braud, Transpersonal Research Methods for the Social Sciences, the book that established the field of transpersonal research methods. In 2011, Rosemarie co-authored Transforming Self and Others Through Research with William Braud and co-authored Five Ways of Doing Qualitative Research: Phenomenological Psychology, Grounded Theory, Discourse Analysis, Narrative Research, and Intuitive Inquiry with Frederick Wertz, Kathy Charmaz, Linda McMullen, Ruthellen Josselson, and Emalina McSpadden. In 2014, she co-founded the Transpersonal Research Network (www.transpersonalresearchnetwork.com) with several European colleagues. In 2017, Rosemarie co-founded Sacred Science Circle (www.sacredsciencecircle.org) with UK colleague, Les Lancaster. In 2017, she also received the Abraham Maslow Heritage Award for her “outstanding and lasting contribution to the exploration of the farther reaches of the human spirit” by Division 32, Society for Humanistic Psychology, of the American Psychological Association. Journal articles, book chapters, and book reviews are available at sofia.academia.edu/RosemarieAnderson, and <http://www.sacredsciencecircle.org/intuitive-inquiry-archive/>. Keynote addresses and videos are available on her YouTube channel (<https://www.youtube.com/c/RosemarieandersonVideo>).

Rosemarie understands Sacred Science as a new paradigm science understood as an encounter with the Sacred through research and scholarship. She is currently translating Lao Tzu’s Tao Te Ching based on her knowledge of Chinese from her years living in Asia in the late 1970s. She lives in southern Oregon surrounded by wilderness and wildlife.
