

Master's Program in Applied Social and Political Psychology (ASPP) at Keele University.

From: Christian Chan

Christian Chan, PhD | 陳濬靈
Assistant Professor
Department of Psychology
The University of Hong Kong

----- Forwarded message -----

From: Masi Noor <m.noor@keele.ac.uk>
Date: Tue, Mar 13, 2018 at 8:58 PM
Subject: Re: Applied Social and Political Psychology (ASPP)
To: Christian Chan <<mailto:shaunlyn@hkuhk>>

Dear Christian,

I would be very grateful to you if you could forward the below email (and its attachment) about our new Masters Programme in Applied Social and Political Psychology here at Keele University.

We have put a great deal of work into this programme, and now we need to let the world know about it.

Many thanks.
Masi

Dear Students,

I hope this note finds you well.

I am writing to share with you some information about our brand-new MSc Programme in Applied Social and Political Psychology (ASPP).

In the below link you will find a video clip in which I and Prof Cliff Stott are explaining the focus of ASPP, its unique features, and our ambition for our students.

<https://www.keele.ac.uk/pgtcourses/appliedsocialandpoliticalpsychology/>

Attached you will also find our leaflet which will provide you with further succinct information about ASPP.

Please feel free to pass the link and the leaflet to your other fellow interested students.

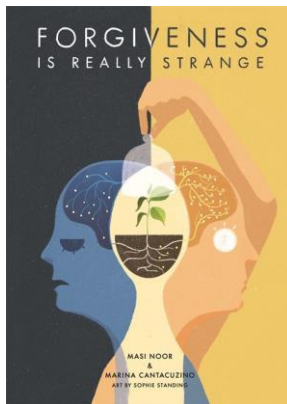

Please remember that we want this programme to particularly welcome international students like yourself. So be assured that you will have a special place with us here at Keele University.

If you require any further information about ASPP, Keele, or living in the UK, do feel free to contact me.

My best wishes.

Masi

Dr Masi Noor
Keele School of Psychology

Coming out now

Forgiveness Is Really Strange

"The list of powerful results of forgiveness is long, and for the first time is communicated in an engaging artistic way by one of my favourite charities with Dr Masi Noor. This book will become a moral guide to readers, including young people, on how to make the world a better place."

- Professor Simon Baron-Cohen, University of Cambridge and author of Zero Degrees of Empathy