

Dalimunthe, Karolina Lamtiur Ph.D.

Universitas Padjadjaran, Indonesia

email: karolina@unpad.ac.id

BIO:

Karolina Lamtiur Dalimunthe finished her undergraduate and master's degree in the Faculty of Psychology at Universitas Padjadjaran, Bandung, west Java Indonesia. Since 2000, she has been a lecturer in the field of psychology at the Faculty of Psychology at Universitas Padjadjaran. She received her Ph.D from Faculty of Social Science at Radboud Universiteit Nijmegen, The Netherlands. She is interested in studying disasters from cultural, social, and psychological perspectives. The professional work that she has done so far relates to women, children, and other disadvantaged or vulnerable groups facing difficult circumstances such as disaster, violence, human trafficking, and other adversities. The agency, social-cultural movements, and healing processes for individuals and communities have been the focuses of her research and intervention, besides policy advocacy for underprivileged groups in Indonesia.