

Table of Contents

Chapter 1: The Costs of Modern War

The changing character of war

 Destructive capability of weapons

 Nuclear weapons

Human consequences of war

 Soldiers after War

 Children and War

 Child Soldiers

 Civilian Casualties: Collateral and Targeted

The weapons of war

 State-sanctioned terror

 Case studies of state terror: Guatemala

 Case studies of state terror: Colombia

 Case studies of state terror: Cambodia

 Displacement

 Landmines

Material and Human Costs of Preparedness

 United States responsibility

Chapter 2: Killing: War and the Minds of Men

War and human nature

 The human psyche as a source of killing

 Killing in our minds and motives

 The contexts of killing

Killing: War and the minds of men

 Dehumanization and enemies

 The dehumanization of the culture

 Different realities

Who Benefits from Global Violence and War: Uncovering a Destructive System, 2nd Edition

The experience of combat

Glory and the sense of purpose

The decision makers for war

Chapter 3: The Hidden Structure of Violence

Structural violence

Psychological and epidemiological perspectives

Cases of structural violence by the global economy

The case of Nike in Indonesia

McDonalds and Disney in Vietnam

Wal-Mart

Foxconn and electronics manufacturing in China

Violence against consumers in the global marketplace

Avon in Brazil

Channel One

Corporate sponsorship of schools

Systemic violence against women and children

Human trafficking: Modern-day slavery

AIDS as structural violence

NAFTA in Mexico

Domestic terror

Is global corporate growth needed for jobs or for investments?

The continuum—from slaves to billionaires

Risk and the market

Chapter 4: People, Farmland, Water, and Narcotics

Globalization of food production

Economic globalization

Subsidies

Biotechnology

Biotechnology and intellectual property

Who Benefits from Global Violence and War: Uncovering a Destructive System, 2nd Edition

The privatization of water

Bechtel vs. Bolivia

Agriculture and the production of narcotics

The war on drugs

Colombia: Militarizing a social and economic problem

Afghanistan: Opium and intervention

Burma (Myanmar): Oppressive governments, pipelines, and opium

The evolving story of people and land

Chapter 5: Networks of Power

What is power?

Networks of power

Network analysis: Revealing networks of power

Creating authority

Effects of concentrated corporate growth and expansion

The military-industrial complex

The military-industrial link

National defense budget

The industry of defense

The government as contractor: Bechtel, Carlyle, and Halliburton

The Bechtel Group

Carlyle Group

Halliburton

Overbilling

Elite clubs: Building networks of power

The Order of Skull and Bones

The Bilderberg Group

The Bohemian Club

Think tanks, advisory boards, and councils: Creating policy and consent

Council on Foreign Relations and Trilateral Commission

Who Benefits from Global Violence and War: Uncovering a Destructive System, 2nd Edition

Business advocacy and lobbying groups

National Manufacturers Association

The Business Roundtable

The Project for the New American Century

The Defense Policy Board

International groups that plan and implement policy

The International Monetary Fund

The World Bank

The World Trade Organization

Taking power from the people

The funding of candidates

Corporate sponsorship

Political action committees

Polling places and electronic voting machines

New barriers to voting

Social exclusion

Chapter 6: RealPolitik: Strategies and Tactics for Winning

Creating the enemy

Violent and coercive tactics

The mind-set of competitive games

Legitimizing global violence

Externalities: The acceptability of risk

End-goals of global games: The expansion of markets

Ideological beliefs

Sanctions for force: The opposition to communism

A “permanent war economy”

The Marshall Plan

Economic aid as a political tool

Creating the communist enemy

Who Benefits from Global Violence and War: Uncovering a Destructive System, 2nd Edition

Ideological irony

Tactics to defeat communism in the third world

Creating governments with the corporate agenda

Economic intervention

Bypassing legal constraints

Overthrowing governments

Iran: A model removal of a popular leader

Iraq and the Middle East: Preemptive military action

East Timor: Decimating a civilian population

Guatemala: Supporting violent military rule

The Vulcans expand the agenda

Concentrating power in the executive

The matter of torture

Mercenaries: Privatizing the military

New directions for the welfare state

Justifying the expansion of power and influence

Chapter 7: Disinformation

World War I and propaganda

The Committee on Public Information

The muckrakers and big business

Media monopolies and the effect on journalism

Lack of government regulation

Using fake groups and fake news

The effect on journalism

The rise of social media

Political and economic agendas: The modern day manufacture of consent

The defense department's media contracts

The Rendon Group

The Lincoln Group

Who Benefits from Global Violence and War: Uncovering a Destructive System, 2nd Edition

Official manipulation: The Office of Strategic Influence

Official manipulation: The Office of Special Plans

The media's failure to examine questions about the events of 9/11

Historical examples of media manipulation and the justification for war

Strategic media: Embedded journalism

Strategic media: The Pentagon's Doha Media Center

Media complicity: Spinning the War on Terror

Eliminating journalists

Spinning the story

Journalism matters: The effect of propaganda

News on the home front: Domestic and environmental issues

Hiding scientific warnings of danger

Chapter 8: Values and Habits that Maintain a Violent System

Selling the image of being for the people

Electoral games

The public role in protecting centralized power

Why are these core values supported by ordinary people?

Interests served by the dominant paradigm

American greatness and exceptionalism

Summary and somewhat hopeful prognosis

Quenza, Carlos José Parales, Ph.D.

CL 105 19A 85 AP 201

Bogotá DC - Colombia

Universidad Nacional de Colombia

Departamento de Psicología

KR 30 45 05

Who Benefits from Global Violence and War: Uncovering a Destructive System, 2nd Edition

Edificio 212

Tele/fax: 3165006

cparalessq@unal.edu.co

Bio

Raina, Maharaj, Ph.D.

1333 Arlington Blvd.

Apt. # 8

Davis, CA 95616

Bio

Rich, Grant J., Ph.D.

APA Fellow, Editor, International Psychology Bulletin,

Fellow, American Psychological Association

Juneau, AK 99801

907-463-3034

optimalex@aol.com

Rohde-Brown, Juliet, Ph.D.

Interim Chair

Doctoral Program in Clinical Psychology

Antioch University Santa Barbara

Who Benefits from Global Violence and War: Uncovering a Destructive System, 2nd Edition

602 Anacapa Street

Santa Barbara, CA 93101

(805) 962-8179, ext. 5167

jrohde@antioch.edu

drjrohdebrown@gmail.com

Bio

Rong, Lian, Professor

President of Fujian Psychological Society

Vice Dean of the College of Education,

Psychology Department

Fujian Normal University

Fuzhou, China

Tel:13705035331

0591-83465341(o)

lianrong1122@126.com

Rozbicki, Michal Jan, Ph.D.

Professor, History Department

Director, Center for Intercultural Studies

Saint Louis University

Center for Global Citizenship, Suite 124 E

3672 West Pine Boulevard

St, Louis, MO 63108, USA

Phone: 314-977-2690

Fax: 314-977-6915

Who Benefits from Global Violence and War: Uncovering a Destructive System, 2nd Edition

email: rozbicmj@slu.edu

Bio and Selected Publication

Pilisuk, Marc and Achord Rountree, Jennifer (2015) The Hidden Structure of Violence: Who Benefits From Global Violence and War, New York Monthly Review, 2015. New York, NY. Order the book here.

Pilisuk, Marc and Nagler, Michael (Eds). Peace Movements Worldwide (3 volumes) Praeger/ABC-Clio, 2011, Santa Barbara, CA. Table of Contents

The Hidden Structure of Violence: Who Benefits From Global Violence and War by Marc Pilisuk and Jennifer Achord Rountree. New York, NY: New York Monthly Review, 2015. Order the book here.

Peace Movements Worldwide (3 volumes) by Marc Pilisuk and Michael Nagler (Eds). Santa Barbara, CA: Praeger/ABC-Clio, 2011

Publication:

Friends,

Most people believe that the "system" will not be able to respond in time to avert environmental disaster, to steer us away from endless war, or change the gross inequality and polarization of wealth. The system is not a mystery. It is a network of extremely powerful international corporations and military strategists who are able to meet and to use their control over monetary, political and military institutions to grow their wealth and power, inspire fear, control or destroy their opponents. Our most recent book examines the violence they invoke against people and environments . It identifies who they are and how they operate.

It's the authors' belief that knowing this can be an important part of dedicated efforts to change this system---- but only if gets read. It can be ordered now and will be out in mid to late July in soft cover.

The Hidden Structure of Violence: Who Benefits From Global Violence and War by Marc Pilisuk and Jennifer Achord Rountree. New York, NY: New York Monthly Review, 2015. Order the book here.

My thanks for your help.

Who Benefits from Global Violence and War: Uncovering a Destructive System, 2nd Edition

Peace,
Marc