Doctoral Faculty, Clinical Psychology

Three positions, in the following locations: Central Coast CA (start Dec-May 2019); Baltimore MD/Washington DC region (start by June 2019); Seattle Washington Region (start by June 2019)

Reports to: Clinical Psychology Program Director

Position: Regular, Full Time
FLSA Status: Exempt

Applications will be accepted for consideration until the position has been filled.

SUMMARY

Fielding Graduate University delivers a personalized graduate education that fosters individual development, community collaboration, and societal engagement. Our vision is for our graduates to excel in scholarship and practice that create a more humane, just, and sustainable world. Fielding Graduate University is proud to be the only APA accredited PhD program in the United States with a distributed learning model.

Fielding Graduate University seeks three full-time faculty members for its Clinical PhD program. Faculty members conduct monthly, local, in person meetings with students and serve as their advisor. Faculty members also supervise doctoral dissertations, teach course seminars that mix virtual and face to face interactions, and do in person seminars at two–three residential events a year. Candidates who wish to be considered for this Faculty position must live in or near (or be willing to relocate to) the specified regions.

QUALIFICATIONS

We seek scholars who are at least 3 years post PhD in psychology who have University teaching experience, supervised doctoral dissertations, a record of research/scholarly publications and are licensed (or license eligible) to practice psychology. Faculty members are expected to maintain an active program of research and scholarship as well as participate in program and university committees. We are also particularly interested in applicants with successful experience in teaching, research, and/or clinical work with individuals from marginalized groups.

Candidates must be available to travel to residential sessions held two to three times each year.

Applicants who can contribute to diversity, inclusion and equal opportunity in higher education through their teaching, research, and mentorship are strongly encouraged to apply.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

To be considered for this position applicants should submit their letter of interest and CV to employment@fielding.edu. In the subject line, include location(s) of the position for which you are applying. Applications received by October 1st will receive priority. The positions will remain open until they are filled.

An employment offer is contingent upon the successful completion of a background check, which may include a check of criminal history and driving record, and employment and educational degree verification. The selected candidate will be required to complete an employment application upon hire.
Fielding is committed to social justice and diversity, and strongly encourages individuals from historically underrepresented groups to apply.